An important message to the citizens of Escanaba

The following is a reprint of a message broadcast over Station WDBC at 8 p. m. Nov. 10 and Station WESK at 6:15 p. m. Nov. 11 and is reprinted here by the Greater Escanaba Committee.

PRESSING State, National and International problems are commanding much of our attention here in Escanaba. Couple these problems with our natural interest in athletics and we seldom find time to give proper consideration to equally vital but perhaps not equally entertaining local issues.

Escanaba is confronted with one right now which will affect every man, woman and child in the area. It is so important that our entire future is at stake. I refer, of course, to the matter of a source of electrical power for this area. The Greater Escanaba Committee headed by Gust Asp, Chairman, and other civic-minded volunteers has undertaken as one of its immediate objectives to inform the citizens of Escanaba of the problem of adequate, firm, reliable electric power.

They do this because they are vitally interested as local residents in the City of Escanaba - not only today and tomorrow but for the years ahead. All can and do admit to a selfish interest because they want to continue to do business here. But they are more than businessmen - they are taxpayers and heads of families and as such they are interested in the future that Escanaba can provide for its youth, for your children and mine - and for their children.

Certainly Escanaba is ideally situated from every standpoint to encourage the growth of present industries and also to attract new industries which will mean new payrolls and new opportunties for all, and sound industry is the keystone of any community's Certainly Escanaba stands at the threshold of an unlimited opportunity with the completion of the Straits of Mackinac Bridge and shipping via the new St. Lawrence waterway.

In this electrical age, however, a constant and dependable supply of electric power at reasonable cost is the vital factor in determining whether present industry can expand or whether new industries will be attracted to Escanaba. We do not now have that kind of electric power in Escanaba and have not had for many years, and unless considerable foresight prevails, we may not have it in the future.

One of the solutions to our complex power problem is a proposal that the City build a municipal generating plant which would require the issuance of electric utility revenue bonds. Consulting engineers have recommended a steam plant at an estimated cost of several million dollars. Proponents of this plan point out that the City made a profit in the past from its power utility and should continue to make a profit in the future.

They neglect to mention that power costs with a Cityowned generating plant would be greatly increased over the price we pay for purchased power. What would such an increase in power costs do to the profits?

This proposed generating plant would meet Escanaba's power requirements for a comparatively few years then more bonds would have to be issued and the plant enlarged to handle the growing needs for electric power which are certain to develop if Escanaba is to develop and grow.

It seems to us only fair to point out that the profits which have been claimed for the City power plant in the past are actually "bookkeeping" profits as no adequate provision has been made for depreciation which certainly has occurred with the City-owned electric system. As we all know, equipment wears out and has to be replaced.

Even more important, however, is the history of municipal electric systems in the United States. In the beginning of electricity, such systems were adequate to handle the relatively low power needs for a community. But we are now in an age of electricity where the community will rise or fall depending upon whether or not adequate power is available.

We need go back no farther than 1945 to see the beginning of a definite trend whereby municipally-owned systems were either discontinued or sold to companies. In 1945, for example, 18 new municipal establishments originated. In that same year, however, 10 were discontinued and 4 were sold to companies. The next year only 14 municipal systems originated, 30 were discontinued and 11 were sold. In 1947 only 4 municipally-owned companies originated, 25 were discontinued and 9 were sold. In 1952 only one new municipally-owned system originated, 7 were discontinued and 7 sold to companies. In 1953 and thus far in 1954. not one municipal electric system was originated, 8 were discontinued and sold to companies.

Certainly Escanaba should profit by the experience of other communities and should not attempt to buck this definite trend. What are the reasons for many of these communities discontinuing their municipallyowned systems?

Take Paris, Kentucky, as one example. Now this Kentucky community has its own generating plant. A few years ago, however, a new welding plant moved into Paris and hooked up to the municipal system. Because of the limited power supply and the inability of the municipal plant to meet the fluctuating demands of the welding plant, 40% - yes, 40% of all welds were defective. The welding plant promptly quit the municipal plant and tied in with a private power company. Of the first 400 welds, only one was defective, and that was because of poor workmanship rather than power deficiency.

Another case in point is the community of Galion, Ohio, which built its own generating plant a few years ago. Within a short time, however, this new generating plant was completely inadequate to serve the needs of the community and its citizens were faced with another big bond issue to build an addition to the plant. The citizens refused to go into debt any further and voted against the bond issue, and Galion closed down its municipal plant and substituted ample power from private company service without going into debt to do it.

These are only two of countless examples which can be cited in this consideration. It is to the best interests of everyone in Escanaba to keep these facts in mind. The Greater Escanaba Committee will continue this discussion of a proper power source in subsequent broadcasts. We hope you will join us then and will urge your friends and neighbors to listen, too.

The expansion program is conditional upon the leasing of a plot of land now owned by the Upper Peninsula State Fair. Inasmuch as the expansion program would mean employment of perhaps as many as 150 more persons in the Escanaba truck crane plant, we believe the board of managers will see fit to authorize the leasing of the property. This is indicated by the board's attitude in the past towards industrial development of the Upper Peninsula. 'The board has repeatedly indicated its deactivity has been to dispose of the searing issues that have so weakened and so divided the French people, have so much prevented them from attending to their urgent domestic and national affairs. Mr. Mendes-France has had great success in his foreign policy, and by a general agreement it has won him much the strongest popular support enjoyed by any Prime Minister in the post war years. But this success is a mere preface to the business of his government which is to bring about a modernization of the French economy and a purge and a revival of the French democracy.

By WALTER LIPPMAN PARIS - The government of Mendes-

In order to concentrate on that task he had first to reappraise and to revise drasspring the French position abroad was in the greatest disorder. There was the urgent threat of a military catastrophe in the lowed by a disintegration of the Atlantic alliance in Europe. France was enormously overextended by commitments which she had neither the means nor the will to carry out. The country was incapable of fighting a war in Indo-China which was so costly and so indecisive and, at the time, of maintaining in Europe an army sufficient to keep the balance of power with a rearmed Germany.

DEFICIT REDUCED

This menacing insolvency, which unwisely the United States refused to help correct, had to be cured in order to avert a general disaster and before a national revival and reconstruction could be undertaken. Mr. Mendes-France has gone a long way towards restoring the solvency of France in her foreign relations. He has done this by lqiuidating the Indo-Chinese war and in Europe by persuading Britain to enter the continent in order to maintain and regulate a balance of power in Western Europe. By these two great acts the deficit, though it is not yet closed, has been reduced, one may hope, to manageable

NOT A GENERALIZER

Now the government is, I repeat, only in the preliminary stage of its action. The question I have been studying in Paris was whether one could find and state the general lines, the controlling principles and he main forms, of Mr. Mendes-France's policy. This is not easy to do. For Mr. Mendes-France, whom I met first in 1944 and have often talked with before he came to power, is very far from being a generalizer. He is not a man with a doctrine or an Kuhn, a document analyst, it took ideology, a propounder of principles and a whole day to make a comparformulas. This makes it harder to write able examination of a dubious about him, and impossible to sum him up paper. The new device, which gists received jail terms for atneatly. His mind is empirical and his costs only $30 to make, does the style is to be pragmatic, specific and prac- same job in a few seconds by tical about the particular problems of France. Although he is a highly educated man, he is not in the least what-in the derogatory sense of the term-is called an intellectual. When he diagnoses a French problem he sounds, so it seems to me, not like the professor of medicine lecturing on general principles but like the family docor who has known the patient since he was a child.

For these reasons it is not possible to fix him in one of the stereotyped categories, to say for example that he is of the right or of the left. As a matter of fact his support runs all the way across the country. It is to be found in big business and in the left wing trade unions. It runs from the Gaullist right through the Socialists on the left, and, and such is his hold on the French working class that he is undoubtedly the most formidable challenger that the Communists have yet to deal with.

Never before in regular grade gasoline

New Shell Gasoline contains TCP gives performance never before possible with regular grade fuel

If the engine of your car was designed to operate on regular grade fuels, you can now take advantage of the remarkable gasoline additive, TCP*, first introduced exclusively in Shell Premium Gasoline.

New Shell Gasoline (regular grade) with TCP, benefits engine performance in two ways. First, by "fireproofing" combustion chamber deposits, it effectively controls power-robbing pre-ignition. Second, by changing the deposits on the spark plugs from conductors to nonconductors of electricity, TCP additive stops misfiring. Each plug fires as it should, preventing fuel waste.

Gives performance never before possible with regular grade fuel

By correcting these troubles, Shell Gasoline with TCP gives an increase in acceleration, in smoothness of engine operation and in mileage.

Because engine deposits form constantly, continued use of Shell Gasoline (regular grade) with TCP is essential to retain its benefits. Now at all Shell Dealers.

MANISTIQUE ALL-CONFERENCE TRIO - The Manistique Emeralds landed three players on the Great Lakes Conference all-senior squad selected by league coaches. Coach Dick Bonifas' Emeralds, who finished fourth in the standings on four wins and three losses, plased Bob Corson (left), Bill Holm (center) and Alroy Mersnick (right) on the all-Great Lakes team. Corson placed center and linebacker. The 6-1, 186 pound senior was the iron man of the Manistique squad, having played without substitution in the last 25 games on offense and the last 17 on defense. He booted 12 of 13 placement attempts for the Emeralds. Holm was a left half and safety, a good tackler and blocker. He earned his third grid letter this year and had one of the longest runs from scrimmage in the Peninsula, rambling 95 yards to score against Stephenson. Holm is 5-10 and 185 pounds. Mersnick played left tackle on offense and left end on defense. At 5-9 and 180 pounds, he was the fastest man on the team and the best offensive blocker. (Linderoth Photos)

When Holy Name High School travelled to Munising late in the football season the Crusaders not only lost the game, 12-6, but also a considerable amount of cash, a watch and a ring . . . Theives pilfered the pockets of the Holy Name players during the game . . . This week Munising school officials mailed a check to Holy Name to cover the losses . . . They were unable to catch the culprits.

A couple of phenomenal bowling feats were accomplished in the Upper Peninsula recently . . . At Menominee, Louis Steppke, filling in as a substitute in league bowling, blasted the first 300 game in sanctioned kegling in Menominee history . . . Steppke had scores of 179 and 161 to complete a 640 series . . . And an all-around woman athlete in Marquette, Miss Marion Anderson, set an all-time record there recently when she crashed a 667 series while bowling with the Shell Oils of the Marquette Queen

EGAD! Now I am coming to the very apex of zenith of my season's football predictions. With the figures of six or more games to go on, I am able to forecast accurately the five Big Ten Conference games for Saturday. The selections: Wisconsin to beat Illinois, Indiana over Northwestern, Iowa over Minnesota, Ohio State to top Purdue and . . . Michigan State to measure Michigan! Those who have criticized me for modesty, which

I've perhaps displayed here and there this season, can rest easy. I'd like to call your attention to the season record, posted above. Just think of it, 115 correct selections out of 163 games called this season. Sensational! Har-rumph! There has been some pressure brought to bear by disreputable citizens to get an early copy of our weekly selections. Undoubtedly in an effort to capitalize on them financially! Never, I repeat, never, will the great name of Hoople be associated with such
